

Undutchables the recruitment agency for internationals

Searching for international personnel?

It can be a real challenge for international companies trying to fill a vacancy that requires specific professional and language skills. Where do you start? How can you be assured of the right result?

You need look no further than Undutchables Recruitment Agency. We are specialised in finding well-educated, highly experienced international personnel. Not only will we take over the burden of recruiting, we will also give you the assurance that you will end up with the right person for your company.

Specific language skills required?

All our candidates have a native language other than Dutch. Many are multilingual. In addition, they all have a good command of English - essential in today's international business world.

Even an above average knowledge of other languages is often not enough. You need personnel who can communicate fluently in your clients' language and have an appreciation of their culture. Additionally they should have a good understanding of your company's target markets beyond the Netherlands.

There is a large group of skilled, internationals already living in the Netherlands, many of whom are registered with Undutchables. Well-educated and experienced at every level and branch of corporate life, these men and women are seeking new employment. And we can introduce them to you.

How do we find the right person for you?

Of course, to ensure success, it's important that candidates are well-matched to their prospective employers in all respects - professionally, linguistically and culturally. Undutchables has the expertise and the organisational set-up to achieve this:

- Locations: with offices in Amsterdam, Amstelveen, Rotterdam, The Hague, Utrecht and Eindhoven, we cover most regions of the Netherlands.
- Focus: we concentrate on finding candidates for office related jobs from entry level positions through to managerial level functions. These include, but are not limited to, administrative, commercial, financial, logistical, and IT positions.
- Size: Over 15,000 internationals living in the Netherlands are currently registered with us. This provides us with a large, up-to-date database to draw from.
- Network: we have extensive contacts with international organisations such as embassies, associations, language schools and foreign universities.
- Selection: we screen and test all candidates and carefully conduct pre-selection interviews. We also spend considerable time listening to you and getting to know your company.
- Expertise: our clients include sales and finance departments of multinationals, European Shared Service Centres, international call centres and many more.
